

Linda Leasman Bio

Linda Leasman has been a Noontime Toastmaster in Springfield, Illinois since 2010. She joined to improve her communication skills but found so much more. Toastmasters became a place to not only practice those skills but a place to practice leadership skills as well. She loves that Toastmasters allows her to cross paths with people from all different walks in life and people from all different generations.

She lives in Carlinville, Illinois where she helps run a family farm. Previously, she worked in a clinical white blood cell typing lab at Northwestern Memorial in Chicago. She has waitressed and bartended between jobs and during college. She has an undergraduate and graduate degree from the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana.
