

Tim Scarbrough Bio

Tim Scarbrough is farmer, entrepreneur, and a Regional Facility Manager responsible for Children and Family Services facilities in Southern Illinois. He is an Army veteran and retiree and a single father of 4 children. Tim owns and operates a 17-acre farm raising goats, sheep, and honeybees and is the creator of the BooZB Honey product. He is an alumnus of Murray State University and Norwich University majoring in Design/Education and Project Management. Tim also achieved the rank of Eagle Scout.

Tim has been a member of Southern Illinois Toastmasters in Carterville, IL since 2014 as well as a Charter Member of Mount Vernon Toastmasters chartered in April 2019. Serving in different club officer roles, Tim remains dedicated to meeting quality, impact on guests, and club administration. He also challenges members and officers to talk about those things that directly interest them to generate interest in others and connect audiences. Tim looks forward to offering his skills and experiences in Toastmasters and life to help others in Division C and make the most of their Toastmasters experience.